What follows is an extremely small sampling of what can be done with each of these materials. They can be facilitated in 2-hour workshops, full day explorations, consecutive session classes and more. And when we combine materials – like poetry and felt, or decoupage and stencils – the possibilities are endless.

Found & recycled materials: sculpture, creatures, robots, mobiles, action figures, mosaics

Hand sewing: pillows, stuffed toys, puppets, felt picture books

Paper craft: collage, decoupage, card making, paper-making, book binding, zines, pop up books, stickers, papier maché

Decoupage: glass, furniture, picture frames, bicycles, lamps, books, dishes, lunch boxes, magnets and even walls

Paint: acrylic, watercolor, tempera, glass, make your own paint, fabric, spray, human spin art

Handmade Stencils: make art on canvas, cardboard, sidewalks, fabric patches, t-shirts, pillowcases, sticker paper, stationary

Accessories: badges, cuffs, headbands, t-shirt modification, tie-dye, stencils, patches, beading, wire wrapping, bottle cap jewelry, fabric paint, hair bands, barrettes, rings, shoelaces, wallets

Polymer clay: creatures, magnets, beads, cabinet pulls, erasers, accessories

Needle felting (The process of turning wool fiber into felt using barbed needles. The needle is pushed repeatedly through the wool, locking the fiber together): cuffs, wallets, purses, beads and jewelry, sculptures, puppets, holiday stockings and ornaments

Poetry: public poetry, found poetry, magnetic poetry, pages-from-a-book poetry, rewriting poetry, odes, haiku

Other projects include: rubber stamp making, shrinky dinks, candle making, friendship bracelets, and more.
